

What is NAEP?

The National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) is the largest continuing and nationally representative assessment of what our nation's students know and can do in core subjects. NAEP is congressionally mandated, and was first administered in 1969 to measure student achievement nationally. The results of NAEP are released as The Nation's Report Card, and are available for the nation, states, and in some cases, urban districts. Teachers, principals, parents, policymakers, and researchers all use NAEP results to assess progress and develop ways to improve education in the United States. For more information, about NAEP, visit <http://nces.ed.gov/nationsreportcard>.

The MySchool website (<https://www.mynaep.com>) provides participating schools and districts with a convenient way to access details about the upcoming National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP).

Use MySchool to

- ★ View specific details about NAEP in your school, such as the assessment date and subjects to be assessed;
- ★ Verify important details about your school, including your school's address;
- ★ If necessary, learn how to prepare and submit your school's list of students, from which NAEP will randomly select students to participate;
- ★ Prepare for a preassessment visit with NAEP field staff;
- ★ Learn what to expect on assessment day;
- ★ Contact your NAEP State Coordinator or NAEP representative; and
- ★ Print and save electronic documents relevant to the assessment.

Schools and districts are encouraged to access MySchool throughout the school year for the most current assessment information.
